

Time for the Kids to Just Cool It This Summer

On Fogo Island, Newfoundland

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Fogo Island, NL., Monday, July 9, 2018—It's true, cool is a state of mind, but even the most level-headed get a little bit stir-crazy as the mercury rises. On the cusp of Fogo Island's Summer and Berry Seasons, this Island community is the picture of cool, calm, and collected. There is still room for family getaways as the best of Summer lingers at Fogo Island Inn with the newly-launched For the Love of Cod fishing adventure and A Different Way to Be Together family programs.

Kids aged two to ninety-two will be enlightened by the For the Love of Cod family program that will see all generations hiking rugged coastal trails, amazed while fishing for cod by line, and inspired through an Island Orientation with a Community Host. The sky remains bluer than blue and the punts (small wooden row boats) are on the water while the North Atlantic's cooling breezes waft across the Island, taking the edge off summer's heat. The unruffled blue-green of the ocean's surface is the very colour of cool, and the early morning quiet somehow makes a family outing on the water more intimate than ever. On Fogo Island, every Saturday, Sunday and Monday through to September 3, 2018 families can venture out on the waves to handline for cod, with fifteen landed fish permitted per boat.

Fall berries are ripening in between summer's wildflowers and, on cool summer evenings, the meandering footpaths along the hillside call out to be explored. The A Different Way to Be Together program is designed around the culinary-minded family; there are chances to forage for wild edibles and opportunities to learn of the traditions of splitting and salting cod, the lifeblood of Fogo Island's traditional fishing economy. All family members can join in a traditional seafood boil-up over a roaring fire along the shore, as the waves crash around under an expansive, limitless sky.
